This certificate serves as official recognition of bond participation under the Tajmas Bond Profit Share Agreement and does not constitute financial advice, a regulated security, or a public offering of any kind. EffortlessWealthGroup acts solely as a Capital Facilitation Partner, not as a financial advisor, portfolio manager, or investment firm. EWG does not provide personalised financial guidance or make recommendations on whether an individual should participate in this agreement. All participants are strongly advised to conduct independent due diligence, consult with licensed financial professionals where appropriate and assess their personal risk appetite before engaging. Capital is deployed strictly at the sole discretion and responsibility of the Lender and all capital deployment decisions remain fully within their control. EWG's role is limited to administrative and logistical facilitation of capital transfer between parties, subject to predefined, non-discretionary conditions outlined in the agreement.
